Mr Lefebvre,

Recently our company, a world swine genetic leader, have made a trial of the Gestal FM System in one of our farms. As you know, it becomes more and more important for the today's pork producer to maximise the production efficiency of its herd in order to reach its potential. During the lactation period the nutrition accuracy is the name of the game to come up to high performance levels.

With the obtained results, Genetiporc has taken the decision to invest in the acquisition of Gestal FM System for our entire farms network. This system represents an essential management tool that encounters our high productivity standards.

Regards,

Mario Lapierre, GM
